

How many worms?

Brock the badger is out searching for worms. He visits lots of different fields during the night. In each field he finds some worms.

Can you add together the number of worms found in each field to find out how many Brock ate in total?

There is no right or wrong way to work out the number of worms eaten.

E.g $9+25=34$

